Period for Reply -- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 17 April 2008.
- 2a) ☒ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☐ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

Disposition of Claims

DETAILED ACTIONResponse to Arguments

Applicant's arguments, see pages 2-5, filed 9/25/2008, with respect to the claims have been fully considered and are persuasive. The final rejection of claims has been withdrawn. However, new grounds of rejection are presented below. This action is made final.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 131, 133, 134, 180-181, 183-185, 192-194 and 201 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Roden (US 5970477).

Re claims 131: Roden teaches a method of Internet billing, comprising: allowing a user computer to access a plurality of Internet services via said cost server (fig. 1 RN {24, 18, 22}, col. 7, line 65 through col. 8, line 40), using an Internet interaction protocol, which access does not require additional actions beyond selecting a URL (Uniform Resource Locator) by a user (col. 12, lines 51-54); tracking said access to each said internet (col. 11, lines 52-54); and generating a debit according to said tracking, said debit accumulates charges at a different rate for each said accessed site (col. 8, lines 60-63, col. 9, lines 23-49, “allocation parameters” and “distance-based rates”).

Re claim 133: Roden teaches presenting an indication responsive to said debit to said user during said access (col. 7, line 65 through col. 8, line 40, col. 12, lines 51-54, col. 11, lines 52-54, col.8, lines 60-63, col. 9, lines 23-49).

Re claim 134: Roden teaches wherein the cost server is connected via the internet (fig. 1 RN {24, 18, 22}, col. 7, line 65 through col. 8, line 40, col. 12, lines 51-54, col. 11, lines 52-54, col.8, lines 60-63, col. 9, lines 23-49).

Re claim 180: Roden teaches wherein the cost server is credited by one of a pre-paid card, credit card or a bank account (col. 7, line 65 through col. 8, line 40, col. 12, lines 51-54, col. 11, lines 52-54, col.8, lines 60-63, col. 9, lines 23-67).

Re claim 181: Roden teaches wherein the debit is responsive to one of accessing a site, provided information, purchase of a product or a purchase of a service (col. 7, line 65 through col. 8, line 40, col. 12, lines 51-54, col. 11, lines 52-54, col.8, lines 60-63, col. 9, lines 23-67).

Re claim 183: Roden teaches wherein the cost server comprises a provider of one of a product or a service (col.8, lines 60-63, col. 9, lines 23-49).

Art Unit: 3691

Re claim 184: Roden teaches wherein the cost server is integrated with a provider of one of a product or a service (col.8, lines 60-63, col. 9, lines 23-49).

Re claim 185: Roden teaches wherein the cost server is associated with a provider of one of a product or a service (col.8, lines 60-63, col. 9, lines 23-49).

Re claim 192: Roden teaches wherein the rate is at least one of flat rate, per use, rate per number of page accesses, rate per download count, rate per download bandwidth, rate per new page accessed, rate per time, rate per bandwidth or rate per data speed (col.8, lines 60-63, col. 9, lines 23-49).

Re claim 193: Roden teaches wherein the rate is based on at least one of the number of access times, access periodicity, access latency, time of day, connection bandwidth, connection difficulty, popularity of the accessed site, promotion paid for accessing the site, subsidy to the accessed site, consent to view advertisements, the size or screen area thereof or quality of service (col.8, lines 60-63, col. 9, lines 23-49).

Re claim 194: Roden teaches wherein the rate is related to the user (col.8, lines 60-63, col. 9, lines 23-49).

Re claim 201: Roden teaches wherein the account is a particular sub-account (col.8, lines 60-63, col. 9, lines 23-67).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 182, 186-188 and 195-196 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Roden in view of Ferguson et al (US 5819092).

Re claim 182, 186-188 and 195-196: Roden does not explicitly teach wherein involuntary information is presented to the user responsive to connecting the cost server; wherein the debit is generated in a plurality of discrete amount elements; wherein the cost server comprises a clearinghouse for at least one of converting or transferring funds; wherein the cost server transfers funds to electronic accounts; wherein the account is credited with bonus points responsive to the user activity; wherein the user activity comprises at least one of supplying information, exposure to advertisement, responding to an advertisement, initiating an advertisement or initiating a questionnaire. However, Ferguson teaches these concepts (see at least col. 4, lines 33-62, col. 9, lines 12-20, col. 10, lines 1-11, col. 12, lines 14-23, col. 29, lines 44-55, col. 30, lines 20-58, 60-67). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Roden to include these features for the obvious reason of offering an incentive to the user for participating in the activities.

Claims 132, 190, 191, 197, 198, 199 and 202 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Roden in view of Toader et al (US 5749075).

Re claims 132, 190, 191, 197, 198, 199 and 202: Roden does not explicitly teach the use of pre-paid Internet account, which account is debited using said debit; wherein the internet access quality is degraded responsive to a critical low debit level, wherein the quality comprises at least one of a access time, response time, memory allocation, graphic quality, features, services and number of advertisements; wherein the bonus points are limited to specific expenditure; wherein the expenditure is at least one of using a service, receiving a gift or responding to information; wherein the bonus points are used for at least one of an extra service, increased access functionality, increased quality of a service or increased amount of a service; and wherein presenting is responsive to a critical low debit level. Toader teaches the use of prepaid Internet account for accessing the Internet whereby the access time is degraded when the balance on the prepaid account is used up, wherein the bonus points are limited to specific expenditure, wherein a addition "free" or prepaid time is awarded for answering survey (abstract, col. 3, lines 48-58). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Roden to include prepaid accounts for the obvious reason of limiting the access time to the balance in the prepaid account.

Claim 200 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Roden in view of Toader, and further in view of Entman et al (US 6292551).

Re claim 200: Roden and Toader do not explicitly teach wherein the account is credited responsive to the quality of service provided to the user. Entman teaches that crediting a user account responsive to the quality of service provided is old and well known (col. 1, lines 41-48). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Roden in view of Toader to include this feature for the obvious reason of compensating the user for the quality of service provided.

Claim 189 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Roden in view of Cretzler (US 5644724).

Re claim 189: Roden does not explicitly teach transferring taxes to an official authority Cretzler teaches transferring taxes to an official authority (abstract). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Roden to include this feature for the obvious reason of transferring collected transaction taxes to the appropriate authority.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
